1993 LG meets Ochirbat-Punsmagin, first President of present-day Mongolia

August: Inauguration of the restored Amarbayasgalant Monastery. In 1991, when Buddhism revived in Mongolia, Guru Deva visited Amarbayasgalant, the Monastery of Undur Gegeen, and began to restore temples, statues, scriptures, accommodations and education for the benefit of all sentient beings.

1995 August: Ulan Baatar meeting and 10-day pilgrimage to His Holiness Guru Deva's monastery.

1996 November: Pilgrimage to Ganden Tekchoeling Monastery in Ulan Bataar, and to Tashichoeling and Jetsun Dampa's Palace.

1997 LGWPF Conference in Ulan Baatar and LG meeting with the 2nd President, His Excellency Natsagiin Bagabandi, who also sent a message of congratulation and well wishes to LG for the conference, for which he accepted to be a Special Advisor.

Message of greetings to the participants of the First International Congress on Alternative Medicines

My sincere greetings to all of you, distinguished guests, scholars, scientists and healers, taking part in this First International Congress of Alternative Medicines underway in Ulaan Baatar, the capital of Mongolia.

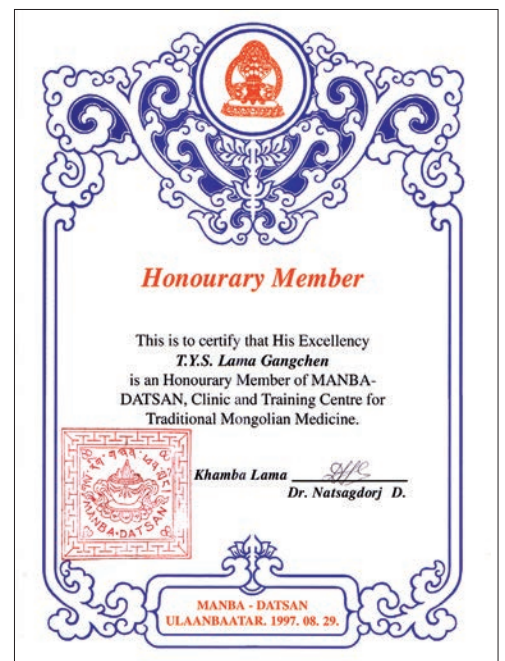

I the President of Mongolia, consider it remarkably auspicious that Mongolia has been chosen as the venue of this first Congress, initiated, sponsored and organized by Gangchen Tulkun Rinpoche, a lama well-versed in traditional Buddhist medicine.

I am confident that this congress, a forum with a divine mission, which marks its beginning from Mongolia, would become a regular event in the years ahead, consolidate world peace. Jointly apply Oriental and Occidental medicine for the health of each and every person in the world and contribute to the development of Mongolian folk traditional medicine.

The President of Mongolia
Natsagiin Bagabandi

27th to 29th of August: Ulan Baatar: First International Inter-Religious Congress, Peace Education and Alternative Medicines conference. On this occasion, Dr Anton Jayasuriya, Chairman of the Open International University, announced that free acupuncture training would be offered to any Mongolian Doctor/Practitioner in Sri Lanka to honour Lama Gangchen - World Healer

In short, LG and our LGWPF Peace Messengers visit Mongolia several times already when the situation was still very difficult.

2004 20th to 30th of August: Exhibition and blessing ceremony of the Sacred Buddha Relics gifted to the United Nations. Ulan Baatar and many villages and monasteries around the country. Meeting with the President of Mongolia.

The relics were displayed in the capital city of Ulan Baatar, and in many villages and monasteries,
